Why test for Heartburn?

Do you have a great deal of indigestion or a burning sensation in the center of your chest? Do you regularly get sour or bitter-tasting fluids in your throat or mouth? Do you need help sitting up when you're lying down, or avoid bending over to prevent acid from backing up into your throat?

If you can answer "yes" to any of these questions, you might have chronic heartburn or GERD (Gastroesophageal Reflux Disease). Now, there is a non-invasive test for heartburn – it's called Bravo. The results from this quick and easy diagnostic test will tell your doctor what is causing your symptoms and what is the best treatment to prescribe for you.

What is Heartburn?

Heartburn occurs when contents from the stomach flow back up into the esophagus.

Heartburn usually begins as a burning feeling in the center of your chest. Often, there is a sensation of food or fluid coming back into your throat and mouth that typically tastes sour or bitter. The burning sensation can last for hours and is often worse after eating. Many people occasionally experience heartburn. But, heartburn can be a symptom of a more serious condition, GERD.
